

AIR CHARTER MANAGEMENT EXPERTS

The right solution every time

With a 20 year proven track record, both Quick International and Sterling Courier together have access to the largest network of charter aircraft in the world – giving us the ability to fly to more airports around the globe than any commercial airline, on your timeframe and to your specifications. We even have access to a live feed of air traffic across the globe so that we are able to pinpoint the exact location of your shipments and monitor their status in real-time every step of the way. Specifically, our air charter management solutions offer you:

- > Access to experienced air charter specialists 24 hours a day, 7 days a week
- > Rate quotes within 10 minutes, and pick up within one hour of your call – some charter flights can even be airborne within that time
- > Door-to-door pick up and delivery
- > Over 3,000 charter aircraft ranging from small, single engine planes and helicopters to Boeing 747s
- > End-to-end coordination of air ambulance and medical services teams
- > A secure and confidential environment for U.S. and international deliveries, with expert knowledge of each country's inbound charter requirements
- > A minimum of $500,000 cargo liability insurance with additional coverage available upon request
- > State-of-the-art weather and flight tracking systems
- > QuickOnline – our customer care Web site that enables you to track progress online
- > Delivery verification by Web, phone, fax, email or handheld device

And value-added services including in-flight catering and ground transportation also make our air charter services ideal for transporting your employees.

Since 1981, Quick and Sterling have been providing automotive and high-tech manufacturers, hospitals and organ procurement agencies, as well as other businesses around the world with reliable, cost-effective, critical shipping solutions. In fact, our charter aircraft solutions, with next available flight out services, have helped hundreds of manufacturing companies manage their supply chains more efficiently. For even greater control, our exclusive QuickOnline allows you to track, trace and monitor every move of your shipment yourself – right from your desktop. This Web-based system offers a complete end-to-end solution for placing orders, accessing real-time flight status and viewing invoices. And of course, you'll always have access to our air charter management specialists, all day, every day.

Whether you're shipping hazardous goods, oversized freight, or you need the flexibility to fly on your schedule or to an airport not normally served by traditional carriers – Quick and Sterling offer the Air Charter Management services to meet your specific requirements for every single shipment.
